

Andrea Wuchiski is a Senior Account Executive at Carrot Fertility, the leading global fertility healthcare company. In her role, Andrea is responsible for driving meaningful partnerships between Carrot and middle market clients ranging in size from 600 to 6,000 employees. Andrea often partners with consultants to align discussions specific to each client's unique strategy, which in turn opens the door to bringing parity and a supportive, inclusive culture to global employers.

Prior to joining Carrot in 2021, Andrea spent the duration of her career as a benefits consultant with Mercer and WTW, as well as a senior sales consultant at Collective Health. The experience Andrea brought from her previous endeavors has supported her reputation as a credible resource, with expertise in working with middle market clients to bring them a solution customized to match their strategies and budgets.

Andrea lives in Westport, CT with her husband, four sons, and two dogs. She enjoys spending time with her family and friends, live music, the beach, hiking, Peloton classes, and cooking.