

Ryan A. Grant, MD, MBA, FAANS is the Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Vori Health. Dr. Grant is a serial entrepreneur and board-certified, Yale-trained neurosurgeon who was most recently at Geisinger Medical Center practicing complex spine surgery. He left his surgical practice during the pandemic to focus on value-based healthcare transformation in the musculoskeletal sector, which includes back/hip/knee pain, and started Vori Health. Additionally, Dr. Grant co-founded Nomad Health, which is an award-winning online marketplace that directly connects healthcare clinicians to healthcare jobs, participated in medical device development, and taught at several medical schools and universities. He received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Science from the University of Michigan, his Doctor of Medicine from the University of Pennsylvania, and completed his neurosurgical residency and complex spine fellowship at Yale University
