

As Chief Commercial Officer, Britt Hayes leads Contigo Health's sales, business development and client services areas. Previously with Health Design Plus (HDP), Hayes contributed to HDP's significant expansion of its client and member portfolio across all product lines while maintaining phenomenal client retention results. Prior to Health Design Plus, Hayes held various senior roles with national payers and consulting firms. He holds a bachelor's degree from University of Charleston in West Virginia. He has been active in several charities, and has served on the National Alumni Board of Directors for the University of Charleston.