

Eric Wicklund is the Senior Editor for Innovation and Technology with HealthLeaders. He has more than 20 years of experience in the healthcare journalism field, starting with MedTech Media, where he was managing editor for Healthcare IT News and Healthcare Finance News and helped launch mHealth News, before moving on to HIMSS Media and Xtelligent Healthcare Media. Along with writing and editing, he produces podcasts, webinars and virtual round-tables, covers industry events and has moderated live panels at HIMSS, CES and American Telemedicine Association conferences. A resident of Maine, he is married, has two adult sons, enjoys walking, cycling and '80s music, and is a longtime volunteer board member and team leader for the American Diabetes Association's Tour de Cure.