

Ryan Stalvey serves as Director of Member Engagement Strategies and has been with Prospect Medical Systems for 9 years. He and his team are responsible for implementing patient experience and service excellence interventions through contracted physicians and inside the organization. Prior to joining Prospect, Ryan earned an undergraduate degree in Health Science with a concentration in Healthcare Management at California State University San Bernadino